BETTER LAWN CARE

Repair and revive your lawn before the cold weather hits and your lawn stops growing.

As the days shorten and the weather cools, your lawn senses the change. Now is the perfect time to repair any patches before weeds seize the opportunity to take over. With slower growth on the horizon, our simple motto—Weed, Feed, Wet, and Protect—ensures your yard stays healthy and beautiful throughout the cooler months.

WEED

One of the most common problems in WA lawns is Winter Grass. This persistent weed begins germinating from seeds spread last year, often before you even notice its presence. The key is to act early—treat your lawn before Winter Grass has a chance to emerge, ideally over the Anzac Day long weekend. In some cases, a second treatment a few weeks later is necessary since the seeds germinate at different times. Along with Winter Grass, other weeds such as Bindi-Eye, Capeweed, Cat's Ears, Creeping Oxalis, Cudweed, Plantain, and White Clover can invade your lawn. A selective herbicide like David Grays Dart is an effective solution, offering up to three months of control on lawns like Buffalo, Couch, Kikuyu, Queensland Blue Couch, and Carpet Grass (though you might notice some transient discoloration on certain varieties).

FEED

With an abundance of fertilisers on the market, choosing the right one for autumn can be overwhelming. Baileys 3.1.1 Plus is a dependable option during this season. Its fully granulated formula makes for even application, while the added wetting agent helps the fertiliser penetrate the soil more effectively. This not only boosts growth and enhances color but also produces a lawn that's more drought-tolerant.

WET

In Western Australia, sandy soils tend to be hydrophobic, causing water to run off rather than soaking in. This often leads to dead patches, as the roots don't receive enough moisture. A quality wetting agent is essential here. Speak to us about choosing the right product for your application.

PROTECT

Dog Rocks is a product quarried in Australia that helps prevent urine burn stains appearing on your lawn. Simply add to your dogs water bowl and let science do the rest! Urine burns and dry patches become prime real estate for weeds. Repair these areas with a top dressing like Baileys Lawn Reviver. This treatment boosts growth, colour, soil fertility and water holding capacity.
